

Homework 3 //TODO – HotShop Use Case Diagrams

Use Case Descriptions for List Management System

Use Case1: Add Item

Actors: Authenticated User, Database

Description: The authenticated user adds items to a list that they are a part of. The user marks the consumers of the product. List data is stored on the database.

Cross Ref: R3.3, R2.1, R2.2

Use Cases: User must have already logged in and been authenticated. User must already have joined the list to which they are trying to add a product.

Use Case2: Remove Item

Actors: Authenticated User, Database

Description: The authenticated removes items from a list that they are a part of. List data is stored on the database.

Cross Ref: R2.1, R2.2

Use Cases: User must have already logged in and been authenticated. User must already have joined the list to which they are trying to remove a product.

Use Case3: Join List

Actors: Authenticated User, Database

Description: The authenticated user joins a list from the database. List data is stored on the database.

Cross Ref: R2.1, R2.2, R2.3

Use Cases: User must have already logged in and been authenticated. The list must already have been created.

Use Case4: Leave List

Actors: Authenticated User, Database

Description: The authenticated user leaves a list from the database. List data is stored on the database.

Cross Ref: R2.1, R2.2, R2.3

Use Cases: User must have already logged in and been authenticated. The list must already have been created and the user must have already been a member of the list group.

Use Case5: Create List

Actors: Authenticated User, Database

Description: The authenticated user creates a list that is stored to the database.

Cross Ref: R2.1, R2.4

Use Cases: User must have already logged in and been authenticated.